One problem the world is facing today is the lack of love. Our problem is not the lack of leadership, money, and technology. It is the lack of love between people. Two solutions to this problem are building self respect and self love and teaching religion.

Teach every human self respect and love. When people have respect for themselves, they will have love for others. What is the profit to the man who gains the world but loses his or her soul? People themselves continue to inflict more and more pain on one another. Therefore, we have to teach them about self love and self respect. If the human heart is full of love, the world will be peaceful.

Islam means peace. By teaching all people about Islam we can bring peace to the world. Quran says to love each other for the sake of Allah. Love is more than an emotion in Islam.

Finally if we teach everybody to love themselves and each other, we can bring peace to the world.
